THE COLOMBIAN TROUBLE.

Gen. Reyes Proclaims Martial Law on the Isthmus—Troops Frightened.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

REEDVILLE, Va., May 1.—Washington, D. C., May 1.—The Isthmus of Panama, in the State of Veracruz, Mexico, was declared in a state of martial law by Gen. Francisco I. Madero, president of the Republic, yesterday. The declaration was made in a speech before the Congress, in which he said: "I declare that the State of Veracruz is in a state of rebellion against the Federal Government." He also said: "I declare that the State of Veracruz is in a state of rebellion against the Federal Government." JOHN A. DILLON, Editor.

The press room of the Post-Dispatch is at all times open to the public, and advertisers are invited to examine our circulation books and satisfy themselves of the extent and character of our circulation.

Our Bartholdi Pedestal Fund is steadily growing.

The Republicans of St. Louis are chicken-livered and lack gall.

It is true that Senator Vest will permit his son to go abroad as Inspector of Consulates!

We should like to close the week by sending a thousand dollars to New York as the proceeds of the Bartholdi subscriptions in St. Louis.

All that the Republican party in St. Louis needs is brains and backbone. It gives no evidence of possessing either of these trifling requisites.

A small reward will be offered for information relating to the leading citizens who formed themselves into a committee last year to work up a Bartholdi boom.

GENTLEMEN who travel on a train with the President of the United States should try to keep their heads clear enough to distinguish a Roman candle from a revolver.

If Austria's only objection to Klemet is that Mr. Klemet is a Jew we hope Bayard will stand by Klemet and show the world what American citizenship is worth.

TRUE to his vicious instincts, Maxwell allowed himself to be arrested in time for the morning papers to give the news. We can spare our contemporaries an item.

The street sprinkling question is one which crops up with regularity each year just when it is too late to do anything. In the matter of street sprinkling St. Louis follows the example of the Arkansas property holder in repairing its roof.

At the risk of a libel suit for $100,000 damages, we venture to express the opinion that the conduct of Mr. Enskine, the Deputy Recorder of Voters, in breaking up a Republican meeting, places him among the "offensive partisans."

THE loss of life by the fall of an unsafe building in Brooklyn, following close upon the loss of life by the fall of the Buddenbeck building in New York, is a terrible warning against death traps. We dare not hope that St. Louis is wholly free from them.

LOUIS OF BAVARIA is to have "Theodora" acted for his sole amusement at a cost of 200,000 francs. Some of these days there will be another uproar in Europe, and this royal crank will be snuffed out as unmercifully as the Louis who was Lola Montez's puppet.

THE Plymouth disease has appeared in the town of Cold Springs, N. J., and already the people are in need of nurses from abroad. Its victims often die within forty-eight hours after the first attack, and, as a pestilence, it seems to be as terrible as the yellow fever.

DISPATCHES from the Saskatchewan country state that Col. OTTER's column marched thirty-five miles to attack FOUNDRAE, and after fighting him seven hours were back where they started from inside of thirty hours. They seem to have retreated at a very rapid pace.

THE reconstruction of Fourth street gives our citizens an opportunity of determining the exact odor of clay impregnated with gas from the St. Louis Gas Company's pipes. The St. Louis Gas Company can declare 80 percent dividends every year after allowing enough gas to escape to poison a whole city.

A BOARD of civil service examiners is needed to protect the marriageable women of this state, the rashness with which they rush into matrimony with strangers. A subordinate and imitator of Signal Service How-Gars is wanted in Washington to confront four different women whom he has managed to marry and desert in the last eight years.

MARY ANDERSON is enjoying a round of dinners to which she has been invited by members of the Gladstone Cabinet, and having met Lord Hartington at Earl Granville's, and Lord Hartington being a leader of the cable dispatches are of course discussing a rumored engagement between the bachelor statesmen and the ladies. These cable dispatches, however, make it plain that no foreign magnate is going to capture Mary till she has reaped the harvest her foreign success is ripening for her in own country.

WHILE the people of Hartford, Ohio, were unearthing skeletons of the stone age yesterday, a political apparition from another part of the same State startled the office-seekers in Washington. Col. G. W. MANTENFELD, who was Indian Commissioner under BUCHANAN, is said to have been seen there volunteering aid and counsel with reference to the management of the Indian Bureau. If lightning can strike him, people will begin to put more faith in the alleged materializations testified to in the pending spiritualistic cases.

It is now said that Mr. MANNING will retain Chief Clerk WHITNEY of the Bureau of Statistics as an expert who cannot be spared, but will demand the resignation of NIMMO, and that Col. W. F. SWITZLER in his place. SWITZLER is accused of issuing statistics grouped in an offensively partisan fashion, and also of drawing a salary which would be worth $1,000 more per annum than WHITNEY's. Col. SWITZLER Such a venerably good-looking figure-head as Col. SWITZLER should be worth at least $1,000 more than a mere expert in a Bureau of Statistics.

The Herald says: "A noticeable and encouraging feature of national politics at present is the promptness with which the time-honored organs of the Democratic party are taking new ground. The Senator of Louisiana appears to have broken away from the influence of the old school, and the House of Representatives is showing more and more the notorious part of that name; but the group of unscrupulous and vulgar politicians they represent—they did all the damage they could—will be unable to hold their seats in Congress for years." Yet the Democrats have to do worse than that.

COL. KENNEDY, the new naval officer at New Orleans, is a very successful sugar planter, having 1,100 acres thirty miles below the city, and in good years making his $10,000 households.

SIR LUCIANA ALBERTI, who came to this country in 1884 with Brigand, died suddenly at his home in New York yesterday. He was a singer master of profession and had earned a widespread popularity in operatic circles.

THERE is strongest objection to colored George W. Williams as Minister to Hayti that he would not be acceptable to the negroes of the South.

The Atlanta Constitution calls him an "Ohio nigger," whom the Southern negroes do not want as their representative.

JOHN BOY O'RAILLY, the Irish patriot and poet, says that in the event of a long war between England and Ireland he would take his stand. He also says that Ireland could be made a part of Britain, in fact, if the government of eighty years ago were allowed the former country.

WALTER ALBERT EDWARD, the Prince of Wales, succeeds to the Crown will drop his first name and that of his father, King Edward VII, and Albert Victor Christian Edward, his son, sharing in the paternal preference for a name which recalls some of the glories and some of the tragedies of English history, will in his time be known as King Edward VIII.

SCHNEIDER.—They are paid for each day they are in the country.

A.—The selections played at the Olympia on the evenings referred to were Edward B. Keane's "Hercules," and John K. Kersey's "Kings and Queens."

SCHNEIDER.—We do not know how much Mr. Vacherot is worth, and we do not know how much Mr. Rotchford is worth, and consequently we are not in a position to say.

M. G. A.—"The Silver Tasse" belongs properly to the author of "Lord Haileman," but Solomon, the author, gave the song to Lilian Russell, who has interpreted it in several of her recent performances.

JOHN ROSEN has again resigned the Slade Professorship of Fine Arts at Oxford, which he has held for sixteen years, and will devote himself wholly to revising his books, in which he is making so many alterations that they are scarcely recognizable when compared with the earlier editions.

JOHN WEST CROWE, just appointed editor-in-chief of the Daily Telegraph, is 25 years old, and fifteen years ago he was promoted an oil at Peterborough. Entering the newspaper business he became editor of the Oil City Daily, and subsequently of the Titusville Daily, making quite a reputation as a humorist. He has been on the Enquirer for several years.

WOMEN OF THE WORLD.

A widow in Wilton, Conn., says she never intends to marry again. She is 104.

The wife of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Fancher is a niece of Horatio Seymour.

MARY ANDERSON is reported to save money in a month than most men make in a year.

MISS PALMER'S husband has promised to fill the position of auditor to the Auditor of State.

THE gentlewoman partied in high good humor. It is just this way of franking meeting and matching objectives which makes Mr. Cleveland so respected and liked by those with whom he comes in contact.

CROWDER'S QUEST LAW.

From the Philadelphia Record.

A United States Grand Jury in Kansas has indicted sixty-eight Oklahoma "boomers," but not for entering upon the coveted lands. They are charged with inciting and engaging in a rebellion against the Government. The position of the "boomers" is that if the result is true that he has placed the venerable SWITZLER at the head of the Bureau. Mr. SWITZLER is a good, worthy man, but he is wholly devoid of technical training needed to fill the position, and he is too old to learn. We wish the veteran editor well, but as Chief of the Bureau of Statistics he is a square peg in a round hole.

The contributions to the Post-DISPATCH Bartholdi Fund continue in a uniform steady stream. The gifts are small but the givers are many, because it is the horny-handed, the ruff chivalry of luxury and ease, that are responding thus to the greeting of the Liberty-loving people of France. Boston, Philadelphia and other cities are now following the example of St. Louis, and are determined to share the expense of the pedestal with New York, and thus make the reception of the statue as national as the great idea and the grand achievements which it so impressively symbolizes.

In a few weeks more the last dollar of the money required will be contributed, and those who wish to share the privilege of contributing must act promptly or they will be shut out.

AT Cold Spring, in New Jersey, and Plymouth, Pa., a terrible fatal pestilence is demonstrating the fact that the clear and pure looking water from wells, even in small country towns, may plant the seeds of death in all who drink it. Even in villages the poison from cess-pools, vaults and pig-pens will indiscriminately make its way at last into wells whose bottoms have been drunk with impunity for years, and the outbreak of a deadly pestilence is the first indication of the presence of any poison in the water. Only wells that are protected from the leachings of the adjacent soil and regularly cleaned once or twice a year can be used with safety, even in villages. How much more dangerous must the uncleansed wells be in a crowded city where the earth is seamed and honey-combed with sewers, cess-pools and foul vaults, and where every cubic foot of earth is saturated with the leachings of decaying animal matter.

THE Tories are in a terrible pucker over the trick played on them by that mad wag, GLADSTONE, in securing their support to a war of indefinite proportions than that Russia demanded. They seem to think that, with a larger war credit voted to them, Mr. GLADSTONE would have thrown in the lot of the British people.

THE street sprinkling question is one which crops up with regularity each year just when it is too late to do anything. In the matter of street sprinkling St. Louis follows the example of the Arkansas property holder in repairing its roof.

At the risk of a libel suit for $100,000 damages, we venture to express the opinion that the conduct of Mr. Enskine, the Deputy Recorder of Voters, in breaking up a Republican meeting, places him among the "offensive partisans."

GENERAL WEAVER of Iowa is throwing his influence in favor of State Senator Charles E. Whiting as the Fusion candidate for Governor of that State.

PROF. MAX MCLENNAN is the warm friend who wrote to James Russell Lowell that he could have the chair of English Literature in Oxford if he would take it.

THERE are about 200,000 commercial travelers in this country. Their average salary is $1,000 a year and expenses.

The Tribune says: "The highest compliment that the Democrats have ever paid or can pay to the Republicans party are the words, 'We are not equal to you.'"

The woman who moved into a house on Taylor Street, just before the new year, was the mother of a young girl, who recently sold her home in Oswego, named Mary Sherman, who, while returning home, was a victim of the cholera, and died in the hands of Dr. McCullough, who was the object of the entire admiration and the finest hero in the world.
